

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Published since 1922

The definitive resource on global issues

About Foreign Affairs

Since 1922, Foreign Affairs readers have been thoughtful, ambitious, and influential—and have trusted us as the world’s leading publication for sharp analysis of important global issues. Our content comes directly from experts in their fields, and their insight into global trends and current events is unrivaled. When business innovators, heads of state, and policy makers want to reach the people who matter, they publish here. And when a generation’s leaders want to understand what drives the world today, they turn to us.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS... will tolerate wide differences of opinion. Its articles will not represent any consensus of beliefs. What is demanded of them is that they shall be competent and well informed, representing honest opinions seriously held and convincingly expressed... It does not accept responsibility for the view expressed in any article, signed or unsigned, which appear in its pages. What it does accept is the responsibility for given them a chance to appear there.”

Archibald Cary Coolidge,
Founding Editor Foreign Affairs

Editorial Highlights

1925

Worlds of Color

By W.E.B. DuBois

Foreign Affairs was early to recognize the profound influence of social issues on global events. The famed civil rights activist and sociologist explores how the problem of “the color line” is entwined with several nations’ histories.

1972

India and the World

By Indira Gandhi

International heads of state are frequent contributors to the magazine. Here, Gandhi discusses the origins and objectives of India’s nonalignment policy in the decades following independence.

1993

The Clash of Civilizations?

By Samuel P. Huntington

Huntington controversially predicted that conflict in the post-Cold War would be driven by clashes along cultural and religious lines. This article sparked animated debate both at the time of publication and in the wake of modern terror attacks.

2001

The Tiananmen Papers

By Andrew J. Nathan

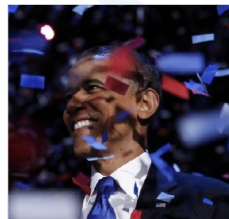

Foreign Affairs released previously unpublished transcripts of the confidential meetings in which Chinese leaders deliberated how to handle the student-led protests that swept the country in the spring of 1989. The government opted for a crackdown, and hundreds, if not more, were killed in Beijing’s Tiananmen Square.

2007

Renewing American Leadership & Rising to a New Generation of Global Challenges

By Barack Obama & Mitt Romney

Before each U.S. presidential election, Foreign Affairs invites candidates to outline their foreign policy proposals in our pages. The July/August 2007 issue included articles from party frontrunners Barack Obama and Mitt Romney.

2020

Making Cyberspace Safe for Democracy

By Laura Rosenberger

Rosenberger, who currently serves on the Biden administration’s National Security Council, discusses how the United States can compete with and defend itself against authoritarian adversaries in cyberspace.

Foreign Affairs Readership

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT OUR READERS

8 ^{OUT}
OF 10

top U.S. universities
have group subscriptions

98%

say Foreign Affairs gives me insight into international developments and trends

97%

say Foreign Affairs provides me with in-depth perspectives
not found elsewhere

93%

say Foreign Affairs exposes me to influential ideas before other sources do

89%

say I refer to what I read in Foreign Affairs
in conversations with friends and colleagues

104
minutes

the average time our readers spend on
each issue

Source: MRI GfK Subscriber Study, Jan 2024

Foreign Affairs Covers a Broad Range of Topics

Benefits Of a Foreign Affairs Group Subscription

Whether following international interests or policy recommendations, libraries and institutions can choose from 3 different subscription options to best suit their needs:

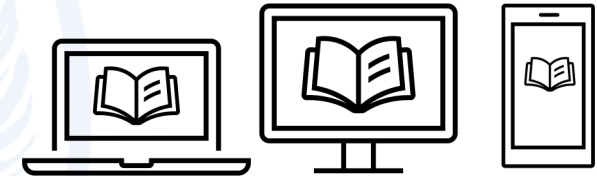

LOCAL

Best for institutions with a central office or location

REMOTE

Best for institutions who have remote users

UNIVERSAL

Remote and Local access combined, with an option to add on print copies of the magazine

Local Benefits

IP address authentication for on-site access

- No login credentials needed

Online access to print issues

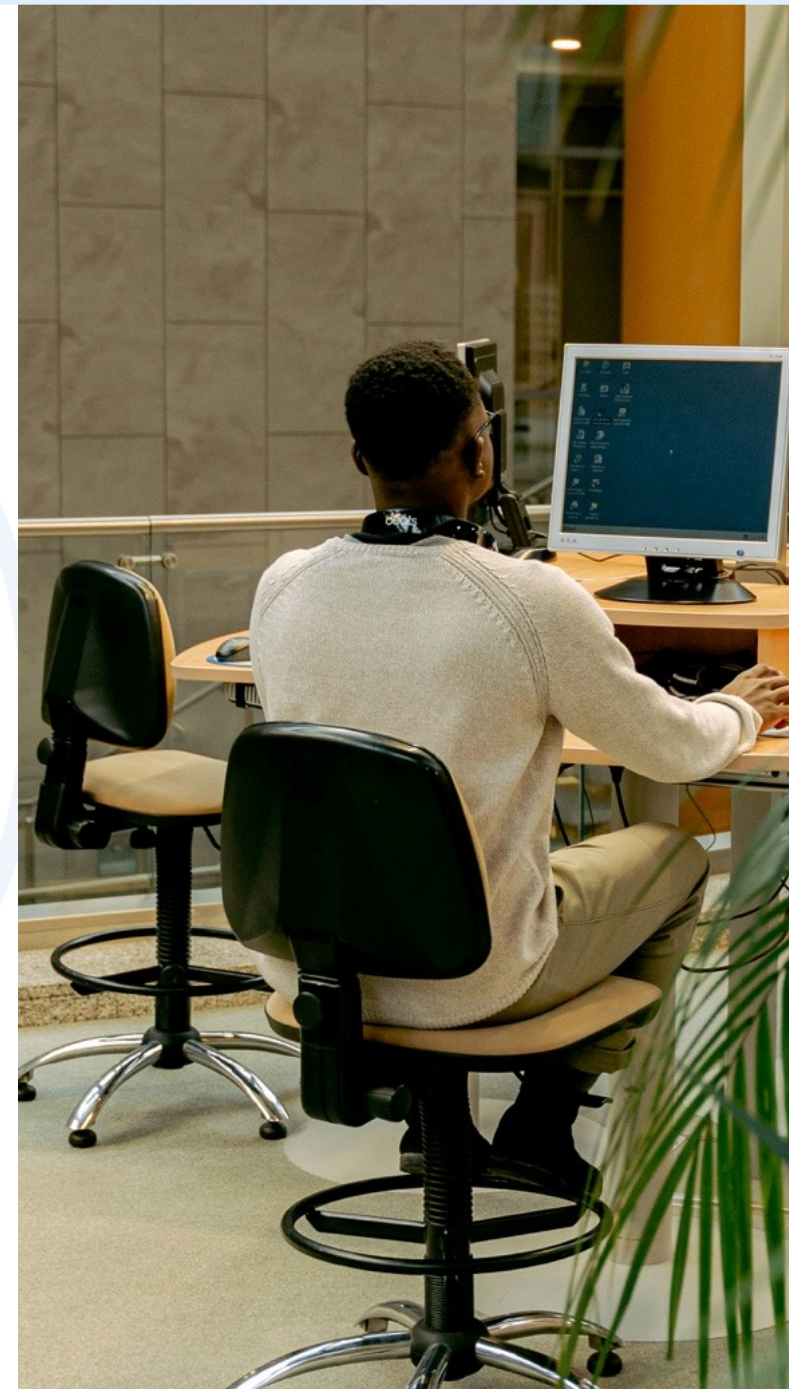

- Immediate access to articles from the newest issue

New web articles posted daily

- Read timely and exclusive analysis of important global issues and events

100+ years of searchable archives

- Browse the complete Foreign Affairs archive dating back to 1922

Remote Benefits

Individual log-ins to ForeignAffairs.com

- Read, save and share web piece with personal online accounts

Individual app log-ins

- Access new issues, web content, audio articles, the podcast and more directly from the Foreign Affairs app (iOS/Android)

Expanded digital download options

- Downloadable issues and articles in PDF, EPUB, MOBI, and audio formats

Additional online research support tools

- Highlighter, notes and online citation features available on all Foreign Affairs' articles, dating back to 1922

Universal Benefits

Both on-site and off-site access benefits including:

- Our weekly subscriber-only newsletter, “The Backstory”
- Invitations to exclusive virtual events with our editors and authors
- Podcast transcripts
- Special collections curated by Foreign Affairs editors
- OpenAthens compatibility
- Optional print copies add-on

Summary of Benefits

BENEFITS	LOCAL	REMOTE	UNIVERSAL
IP address authentication for on-site access	✓		✓
100+ years of searchable archives	✓	✓	✓
New web articles published daily	✓	✓	✓
Online access to latest issues	✓	✓	✓
Podcasts with transcript	✓	✓	✓
Individual logins for website and app		✓	✓
Expanded digital download options		✓	✓
Additional online research support tools		✓	✓
Audio versions of print and web articles		✓	✓
Weekly subscriber-only newsletter "The Backstory"		✓	✓
Invitations to exclusive virtual events		✓	✓
Special collections curated by Foreign Affairs editors		✓	✓
Complimentary PDF reprint rights		✓	✓
Compatibility with OpenAthens			✓

All plans include a dedicated customer service representative.

Contact:

Groupsubs@foreignaffairs.com

To learn more about your options and get customized pricing for a group subscription to Foreign Affairs, please email us. We'd love to help you bring more thoughtful ideas about critical global issues to more people in your organization.